Committee explains building as best plan

by MARY SULLIVAN
Lakeland Newspapers

Since its inception in 1990, the Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Referendum Committee has been doing its homework to help determine means to accommodate an enrollment of 2,000 by 1995 and 2,400 by 2000. In establishing their objective, passage of a $29.9 million bonding referendum for construction of a new high school, 13 alternatives were also examined.

"The group struggled for quite a while in trying to come up with a recommendation," said co-chairman Jim Hintz.

Intent on retaining only one high school in the district, the committee entered into discussions with ACHS Dist. 117 feeder schools on the effects and extent of the space crisis.

"Some of them are in desperate need," added Hintz.

Based on these discussions, the committee recommended the construction of a new high school and use of the existing school by the feeder districts.

Remodeling and/or construction of an addition on the existing high school was an initial consideration. According to committee reports, the task would be encumbered due to the extent of necessary refurbishing, high cost to purchase surrounding properties, consequent traffic problems and the continuing space shortages in the elementary districts.

Achs Business Manager Ken Weirschem estimates the cost of acquiring properties located directly north of the site at about $3 million. In addition to the purchase price, the process of acquisition could involve lengthy and costly legal proceedings.

The school's crowded core facilities, cafeteria, library, science lab, were built for an enrollment of 900 in 1962 and cannot be expanded without major restructuring which would disrupt education. The location of the delivery and loading area in the front of the building is a present traffic problem, which would be exacerbated by he added enrollment. Further, reports indicate that expansion of the existing high school, render insufficient the amount of indoor and outdoor physical education space, as well as parking.

The purchase or lease of portable classrooms can only be considered as a temporary solution pursuant to state law. On such a basis, the committee reports that 10 to 14 units would be required at a cost of $350,000 to $490,000. A permanent facility would eventually have to be built.

Restructuring of the school day was also considered, through adoption of a nine-period day or split shifts. Although each alternative may free up some classroom space, neither offers a solution or relief to the overcrowded core facilities, according to the committee. The split shift arrangement makes the inclusion of extracurricular activities difficult or impossible.

"When we have 2,000 students in this building, we definitely have the need for a double-shift arrangement," said Allen in regard to an interim plan should the referendum pass.

Other options include the following per the committee report:

•creation of a separate Lindenhurst/Lake Villa High School or a unit district—dis-

Culat case question of misconduct or politics

by MARY SULLIVAN
Lakeland Newspapers

Following two full days of attorneys' arguments, the Antioch Police and Fire Commission is deliberating the fate of Antioch Police Officer Michael Culat. A decision will be made at the commission's regular meeting, Monday, April 1 at 6 p.m. at the village hall.

Charges of conduct unbecoming an officer were brought against Culat by Police Chief Chuck Miller. Included in the charges against Culat were allegations that he had taken and opened mail from Miller's mailbox, embraced a co-worker, suppressed knowledge of a theft of tires and rims, failed to properly report his time while on patrol and conducted a police operation without notifying the chief.

Calling the charges politically motivated and selective enforcement, Cula's attorney, Bruce Brandwein, criticized the complaint against his client for its failure to cite specific violations. He also assailed the police department itself for a lack of professional standards.

"At best you have an officer that got involved in the politics in this town and now he's paying for it," he said.

Miller's attorney Michael Cummins based his case against Culat, in part, on video and audio taped evidence reviewed at the hearing.

Brandwein blatantly denied the charges that Culat had failed to notify the chief of an operation involving minors and failure to report while on patrol. He dismissed the video-taped embrace an innocent show of concern.

The focal point of the hearing centered around the taking of mail and a phone conversation involving a possible theft of tires and rims.

As part of an investigation overseen by the Illinois State Police Department, a video recorder was placed in the mailroom. Tapes entered into evidence, together with testimony by Lt. Charles Watkins who reviewed the tapes, indicated that Culat had removed and read articles of mail from

It's a special time for all

When Christians all over Lake County celebrate Easter this Sunday, they will commemorate Jesus Christ's rising from the dead after being crucified. Members of the Jewish faith will remember the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt and slavery in an eight-day Passover celebration, starting on Saturday, March 30. During it all, kids all over the county will be looking for the Easter Bunny and all his 'eggy' paraphernalia. — Photo by Lisa Benitez.

Vote gets rematch

ISLAND LAKE — Voters within School District 118 will again get a chance to give their thumbs-up or thumbs-down to the idea of a new elementary school when election day comes around Tuesday, April 2. Last November, the referendum calling for a new $6-million school near Island Lake subdivision Fox River Shores suffered a sound thrashing in the ballot box.

Sewer pact wins

GURNEE—A proposed agreement between Lake County and the Village of Gurnee regarding sewer service for 1,747 acres known as "Grand-Hunt" property cleared a hurdle Tuesday. Members of the Regional Plan Commission voted 8-4 to recommend the agreement to the Lake County Board. The Lake County Board is expected to consider the agreement, along with one for Lake Villa, on April 9. The Gurnee Plan Commission will discuss the matter April 3 and the Gurnee Village Board will view the agreement April 8.

Expect ruling

ANTIOCH—Following two full days of attorneys' arguments, the Antioch Police and Fire Commission is deliberating the fate of Antioch Police Officer Michael Culat. A decision will be made at the commission's regular meeting, Monday, April 1 at 6 p.m. at the village hall. Charges of conduct unbecoming an officer were brought against Culat by Police Chief Chuck Miller.

Kurtz blasts board

NORTH CHICAGO—North Chicago Community High School Interim Principal Doris Kurtz blasted the selection process of a new principal. Kurtz has been a district employee for 21 years but was told through the Dist. 187 consulting firm that she was not a finalist for the position.

Sue thrift directors

LIBERTYVILLE—Six former directors of the failed Libertyville Federal Savings and Loan Assn. have been sued for $20 million by the Resolution Trust

Corp. for not paying attention to the declining condition of the thrift in 1982, 1983 and 1984. Construction loans, mostly for motels, condominiums and a bank in the southwest, went from $36 million to $126 million during that period. All of the money was lost through what the government calls bad investments, poor quality loans and, in some cases, further loans made in an attempt to bail out the debtors. Among those named is Walter Tyszko, former president; George Francis, former chairman; Robert Proctor, a local florist; and Charles Hunter, chief financial officer of Walgreen's Inc.

Candidate row

FOX LAKE—Police Lt. James Busch admonished two candidates in the village election Tuesday, April 2, to stop arguing in the village hall or face arrest. Robert Peters and James Thillen, two of five candidates for the village board, argued during the audience portion of the regular council meeting and continued the argument outside council chambers after a hasty adjournment. Mayor Frank Meier took the altercation in stride, remarking in good humor, "Now I see why they give the mayor a gavel." Meier used the gavel to restore order for the first time since elected two years ago.

Land use plan Ok

FORT SHERIDAN—A final land use plan for the 700 acre Fort Sheridan site was approved by the Fort Sheridan Commission Monday. The plan calls for maintaining existing space for Army reserves, a land transfer from the Army to the Navy for housing, a national cemetery for veterans. The report will be sent to Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney. However, there is question over future funding of the commission.

Battle settled

LAKE ZURICH—A two-year battle between the Village of Lake Zurich and Ancient Oaks was settled in federal court in favor of the village. The owner of the 70 unit apartment complex was ordered to demolish the building.

The Lakeshore's Hit Music Station

Three run for seat on Chain Waterway Agency

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Three candidates are running for the director's seat on the Chain O'Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency. The seat has been vacated by Bud Scott.

Ron Baker

Ron Baker, 55, Antioch, is the chairman of the Citizen's Advisory Committee to the agency.

He is married, has two grown children, and is not only a waterfront homeowner on the Chain, but also a lifelong boater and user of the Chain. Even his occupation has to do with waterways since he is involved in a marine service shop doing boat repairs.

He believes that "The Chain is the best resource in the state, bringing money to the area," and because of this wants to be elected to the agency's director's seat so he can work towards promoting "clean water," preventing shoreline erosion and speed dredging operations.

He feels he has the experience to serve the agency since serving on lake safety and improvement associations in southern Illinois and Minnesota.

He stresses that the next four years will be a critical time for the agency.

"The people should know more about where the user fees go," he said, giving the example of the free map of the Chain that has been made available, paid for by user fees.

With lake stocking of fish another thing paid for by the agency's money, he wants to work towards keeping the Spring Grove Fish Hatchery open because of the quality of fish that the agency gets there to help stock the lakes.

Judith Martini

Judith Martini is a 38-year resident, living in Spring Grove on Nippersink Lake.

She has been active in lake and environmental groups such as the Korpan's Landing Yacht Club, the Chain O'Lakes Waterfront Property Owners Assn. and the Environmental Subcommittee for SAMP (Special Area Management Plan).

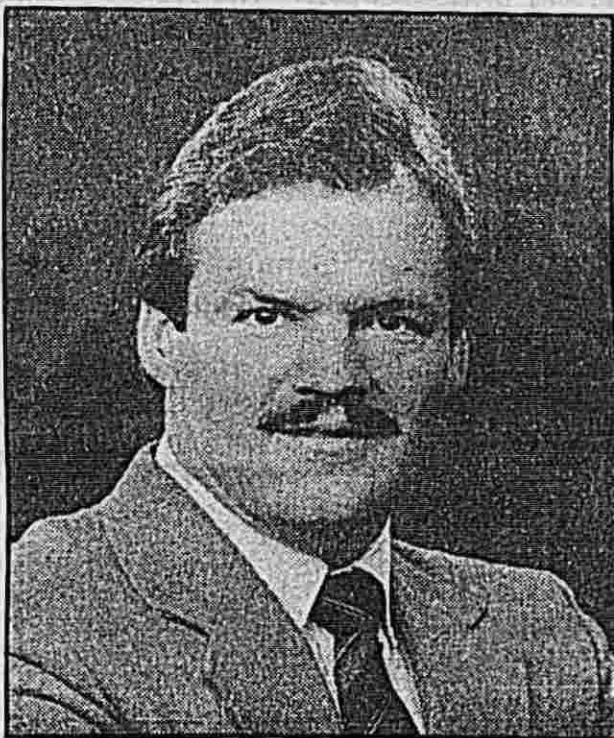

She claims she has nothing personally to gain from being a director of the agency. She adds that she wants a change in the way the agency is being run because she is "a concerned homeowner who is tired of how the system works."

"When the agency was created, it had 10 years to prove itself as a viable governmental agency -- Now six of those years have passed and very little has been accomplished to improve our waterways," she said.

She is calling for action on shoreline stabilization, channel dredging, sedimentation control, boat saturation, boat size control and noise pollution by increasing public awareness through education.

She pledges to work for the implementation of SAMP recommendations by the Army Corps of Engineers and programs that have a watershed management and wetlands preservation focus.

"Our lakes, rivers and wetlands are pristine areas that must be preserved, not destroyed by added tourism," she adds, as she pledges to be a powerful voice for the public as a director of the agency.

Daniel T. Ray

Daniel T. Ray, Fox Lake, 38, is married with two sons.

He not only lives on the water, and is an avid fisherman, but has a career based on cleaning-up and saving the environment.

At present he owns a landscaping and scenic development company, a job that makes him knowledgeable in the basics of stabilizing a shoreline and what kind of construction will be involved in dredging the Chain.

He feels that an education that culminated with a master's thesis on wildlife and a career based on wildlife and land use gives him the background needed for a director of the agency.

He is a former assistant manager of the Richmond Hunting Club and a research assistant for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for the U.S. Dept. of the Interior.

If elected, he promises to work towards lake cleanup, increased dredging, a stabilized water level, boater safety and less noise and boat traffic.

Student of the month

Tina Reulbach has been selected Antioch Community High School Student of the Month for February. The program is sponsored by the Bank of Waukegan, Antioch Facility, who contributes $100 each month to the ACHS parent/teacher scholarship fund on the student's behalf. Congratulating Reulbach is Diane Pilbosian of the bank.

Reulbach named ACHS Student of the Month

Tina Reulbach has been selected Antioch Community High School Student of the Month for February.

Nominated by Fran Waible and Sarah Redd-Illyes of the English and Fine Arts Departments, Reulbach was honored for her participation in the Madrigal Dinner, both for preparing the meal and her performance during the program. In addition she was nominated for her creative writing skill in her fantasy story which won third place in a contest sponsored by the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. She is a National Merit Scholarship finalist and plans on pursuing her interest in writing through college.

Student of the Month is sponsored by the Bank of Waukegan, Antioch Facility, with a contribution of $100 each month to the ACHS Parent/Teacher Scholarship Fund on behalf of the student. The selection is made by the administration and staff of the school, and is based on scholarship, leadership, character and service to the school or community.

Committee

missed due to lack of evidence that formation of a unit district would alleviate the space problem;

- detachment of one or more grade school districts—ruled not feasible due to loss of assessed valuation, resistance by the area to be de-annexed and the lengthy process involved;

- freshman campus—costly duplication of services and transportation;

- two four-year high schools—costly duplication of services and a single consolidated facility provides many curriculum and athletic advantages for students;

- relocation of administration—would free up space for only three classrooms;

- combine Antioch and Grayslake High School Districts—Grayslake High School no longer interested in pursuing option and both schools are projected to outgrow their present buildings;

- year-round school—without compliance of all the feeder schools, children from the same families would attend school on different schedules

- tuition schools—paying tuition for 300 student to attend another high school would be costly and would not solve some of the problems with the present building.

The provision of sewer service to the proposed high school Polley Field is budgeted at approximately $1 million, which is included in the $29.9 million bonding figure. However, the cost of extending sewer service to the site, Allen says, may cost as much as $500,000 with recapture options and through hook-up into the Lake Villa extension with the Lake County Fox Lake Sanitary District.

The extension project is expected to be approved by the Lake County Board at their Tuesday, April 9 meeting. According to Allen, the district would be "obligated" to go to the Fox Lake district.

Hearing

Miller's mail basket. Cummins contended that the one of the items had been a sensitive document containing a court imposed gag order.

Culat testified that he had indeed, opened mail from the chief's mail basket, but to obtain information about a school opportunity and a police department directive. At no time, he testified, did he see the court ordered document introduced by Cummins.

Furthering his defense of Culat, Brandwein assailed the department for a lack of professional standards, under which the practice of opening other people's mail is not an isolated one. Testimony offered by department employees corroborated that officers other than Culat had engaged in this practice.

The charge regarding the tires stems from a telephone conversation between Culat and Diane Szlay, which was taped over the department phone lines. Cummins charged that pursuant to the tone and dialogue of the conversation, Culat was aware that a crime had been committed and failed to act in response.

According to Culat's testimony and Brandwein's statements, Culat was not aware of such an incident until a subsequent phone conversation, following which, he made inquiries to other police departments as to any reports.

The course ties together the community and school by utilizing guest speakers, field trips and various community resources to provide the students with the life skills for living within the home and workplace for now in into the future. Due to their time and effort, the enrollment produce five sections, ranging from 20 to 30 students per section for the 1990-91 school year.

right along with their children in order to see them succeed. To see them succeed in this special way on stage is naturally very rewarding. They have grown accustomed to such phrases as "your child is handicapped," "your child is different," "your child will not measure up." Yes, to see these special people on the state is a definite positive for the parents of SEDOM students. Relatives filled the Opera House auditorium and the cast buzzed back stage with excitement. This performance was the culmination of over a month of daily practices. Seventy actors and actresses, ranging in age from three years to 30 years, donned ornate hand-sewn costumes, everything from yellow chicks to King Tut wear. The stage proves to be a great equalizer. With the help of makeup and costumes the performers temporarily become who they chose to be. The on-lookers were moved and with this success comes renewed self confidence and improved self image. Congratulations to all on a job well done, the staff, the students and the parents.

the March 14 birth of their son, Jacob Daniel. Jacob was born at Condell Hospital and he weighed in at nine pounds on the nose. Mom tells me he has lots of black hair and is 21 inches long. Congratulations, Bowen, I'll be waiting to see the baby ASAP!

Mayor hiding?

Editor:

Just about a year ago I moved to Antioch and felt as though I had reached Utopia. Decent schools, lovely area and so on. However, from the moment I settled in I became aware of the political wranglings. Oh, maybe not at the same pace as Chicago, but certainly just as divisive.

Like everyone else in town I have followed the numerous articles concerning the Miller-Wilton problem. Although I am probably unaware of the complete history of the matter I can't help but be more than a little surprised that it seems whenever the mayor speaks, reporters are at the ready to record his every utterance, no matter how strident his tone or redundant his remarks. Did his repetitious comments again warrant from page coverage?

I become suspicious and find myself wondering what exactly does the mayor want done in this matter regarding the discipline of those police officers? From the tone of the article it would seem he feels the community would be better served if the whole thing were dropped. Isn't his tirade concerning the money involved the same as saying, "Do nothing. I know these guys." Frankly his constant harangue about cost incurred reminds me of a mother bird flopping around with a supposed broken wing. In other words, do not look around too closely, just watch me. The birds ploy of course is to lead us even further away until she has diverted us sufficiently and then takes flight. Could there be something the mayor is also trying to keep hidden? Just asking!

No tax savings

Editor:

The Antioch Community High School citizens' referendum committee confuses the responsibility of the taxpayers of the high school Dist. 117 with the responsibility of taxpayers in the individual feeder school districts.

According to the article in last week's Antioch Reporter, one of the big selling points of the referendum is tax savings by leasing the high school to feeder schools. Where is the definite commitment of the feeder schools to lease space? The article in last week's Antioch Reporter indicated Emmons School acknowledges the feasibility of leasing space. Antioch Dist. 34 reached a tentative lease agreement. Lake Villa Dist. 41 is considering a similar plan. Grass Lake School Dist. of which I am a resident was not mentioned. What is Dist. 117 going to do with this expensive piece of real estate if they do not lease the space according to their speculation? Antioch Dist. 34 has the strongest interest in leasing.

However, the rest of the taxpayers of Dist. 117 are not responsible for bailing out Dist. 34.

Let's focus on the high school issue. Will the taxpayers of high school Dist. 117 be given convincing arguments against the feasibility of the 12 other options in support of an expensive, new four-year high school?

Marian Rohde
Antioch

Yes for high school

Editor:

It is a rare event in our lives to have a chance to truly make a difference in the lives of future generations. On April 2, those of us within the Antioch High School district lines have that chance. Referendums offer the taxpayers a chance to make a collective intelligent decision.

There are those, of course, that are reactionary rather than thoughtful. "No new taxes" is their stock and trade line. And, it sounds so appealing to all of us who struggle to pay the bills. So often we feel as if we have surrendered our lives to politicians that spend without thinking. Given any chance to control our tax destiny we vote "no" to new taxes. But we must fight this impulse on April 2. Our vote must be carefully weighed, the costs of building a new school against the benefits a new school will provide.

What this vote is about is the opportunity to develop within the walls of the new school an outstanding education for our children. Antioch High School, as it is, is a good high school. It is not a great one, but it has potential. It has a wonderful staff ready and willing to improve the education of our children. A modern high school must have many dimensions if it is to be truly great. I must offer a variety of subjects at many levels. The modern high school must offer a curriculum that challenges our most gifted students as well as nurture those less academically inclined.

But to do this it first must have the physical plant to house these dimensions. Simply put, the physical size of a high school is directly proportional to the number of curricular choices its staff can make. Great high schools are made by talented teachers, and willing students who have the freedom to teach and learn without the restrictions present in the current school. Compare the current curriculum of Antioch High with a great high school's curriculum. Antioch's does not measure up. It's not because the staff is not capable and willing, and it is certainly not because our children are less talented. Antioch graduates must find it very difficult to compete after high school against students who have been educated in schools with more dynamic curriculums.

Our investment in this new school has other benefits as well. As Antioch becomes a great school, its reputation will spread. There are few great high schools and we all know that as Lake County grows, people will migrate to the communities that offer the most opportunities for their children. This demand translates to increased value in homes. If together we demand excellence, we will get an excellent high school. Use your vote on April 2 to do just that; demand that your money be spent wisely. A yes vote does more than provide for brick and mortar. A yes vote provides opportunity. Let's all make a difference.

State bank fair ends with record attendance

State Bank of Antioch officials reported record attendance at the bank's ninth annual Home Improvement Fair held at the Antioch VFW hall.

"Our Fair committee members and all of our exhibitors found that visitors to the Fair this year were doing some serious shopping," said bank president, Randy Miles.

"While diversified advertising may have significantly increased attendance," said bank vice president and fair coordinator, Wally Jaskowski, "we continue to find that home improvement consumers appreciate the opportunity to employ a local contractor or home specialist with an established place of business and satisfied referral customers in the greater Antioch area."

State Bank lending officers were available during Fair hours of the two-day event to provide on-premises answers to visitors' financing questions.

Free popcorn and refreshments were served and visitors were given the opportunity to win any of the 20 bank prizes and 90 assorted prizes offered by individual exhibitors in the Fair.

Playing hide, seek

If Lake County Board Chairman Robert Depke is correct, the county's 52 villages and cities probably will be playing a lot of hide and seek the next few years as efforts are made to solve solid waste disposal problems.

Addressing a meeting of the Lake County Municipal League, Depke said a lot of money will have to be spent for landfills, compost sites and incinerators. Elected officials will have to bite the bullet on siting questions. The waste disposal facilities will have to be in someone's backyard. "It has to be," is the way Depke put it as he placed the price tag at $1 billion.

Undoubtedly what's going to happen is that municipal leaders will be hiding from the question and seeking locations elsewhere for disposal sites. Depke correctly identified the NIMBY syndrome as the block to siting (Not In My Back Yard).

It's asking too much for volunteers to come forward. Locating disposal sites will be a test of leadership. A tough-minded leader like Depke just might be able to accomplish the unthinkable—locating the disposal site in the backyard of one of the county's municipalities. It won't be easy, but the right combination of economic inducements and political arm twisting might do the job. As Depke stated, "It has to be."

Gangs for real, only officialdom loathe to admit

by BILL SCHROEDER

Gang activity.

Waukegan admits it; Round Lake area doesn't. Or maybe Round Lake isn't sure.

Gang activity is dangerous stuff. Gang activity is a delicate subject. Dr. Robert Sherman, assistant superintendent of Round Lake Unit Schools, stiffens when asked about reports of gang activity. "People see a group of kids congregating after school. Gang ideas come to mind immediately. It's ridiculous."

Mundelein police aren't dismissing an outbreak of spray painting lightly. Is it graffiti, a tell-tale sign of gangs? If it is, the stuff is pretty crude, according to Chief Wallace Frazier. But Mundelein police aren't taking painting vandalism as a youthful prank.

State's Atty. Michael Waller states flatly that there is an emerging gang problem in Lake County. No crisis, but a problem, Waller emphasizes. Again, Waller isn't taking gang evidence lightly. He has assigned one assistant to investigate gang reports.

School officials publically take a NIMBY attitude toward gang activity—Not In My Backyard. But they held a top level meeting recently at Meadows 21, Libertyville, with selected law enforcement officials present to acquaint themselves with gang information.

Waukegan police are taking an aggressive attitude with the establishment of a special Gang Suppression Unit. Round Lake Beach Chief Ed Noe has put a high priority on acquiring information on how gangs operate. And he's willing to share what he knows.

There is no doubt that the infamous Latin Kings of Chicago have a beachhead in Waukegan and North Chicago. Pat Christensen of the Lakeland Newspaper editorial staff cautioned about reporting gang names. "Members enjoy publicity." So no other gangs will be mentioned at this time.

What's important is that law enforcement at all levels is getting more knowledgeable about how gangs operate. Police have learned that gangs are getting less ethnic and more likely to have members of all ages. They know that the combination of weapons, colors and graffiti spells trouble.

The really scary part is that while gangs are centered in specific communities, members tend to roam all over to recruit members and steal. This means that no community is immune.

In this respect, Waller's viewpoint is an understatement. The danger is to over react and stereotype. Right now education seems to be a good course to follow.

On the Cook County side, a network of agencies have formed the Regional Action Planning Project (R.A.P.P.) to cope with real or potential gang activity. RAPP started in June, 1990, and now includes representatives from a number of northwest suburbs. RAPP emphasis is on communications, but it could be expanded to something more action oriented.

More than a few persons are frightened about city-style gang activity in our locality—with good reason.

NO GIFTS, PLEASE—Don't pass the hat for Elger Putman, a retired Highland Park school teacher, who is conducting a "do it my way" campaign in his first entry into politics. "I'm not looking for any contributions or any help. I'm getting support one vote at a time," declared Putman, a candidate for a seat on the Libertyville village board. Putman is remarkably well informed. He files clippings and notes on everything. His campaign is based on a premise of reducing government spending to sensible levels. Too bad not all candidates are standing on that campaign plank.

THOUGHT—While you're sizing up candidates for the April 2 election, keep this report in mind: Lake County has surpassed DuPage County with the highest per-person residential property tax burden in the state, showing a hefty 9.7 percent increase for 1989 over the previous year in the latest figures available. Lake County folks plunk down $714 per year per person.

Villages, townships linked

Editor:
Due to the important issue of growth that is now happening in Lake County, those of us who live in a township realize the effects that villages now have on our living conditions and environment. It is not like 15 years ago when villages and townships each had their own governmental responsibilities with neither affecting the other.

Today, if a village "sneezes, the township gets a cold." Therefore, the people who serve on local village boards are of great importance to all of us. I believe that incumbent Village Trustee Jim Eschenbach has the knowledge and the hands on experience in all areas that is needed at this time. His teammates; Dan Stegeman, Dave Wanshek and Carl Aronson all share Jim's caring about Wauconda. These candidates will respond to the peoples concerns.

Rule setters ignore rules

Editor:
The lines are clearly drawn in Dist. 116 of Round Lake. Financial problems will not be solved by taking from the union employees to line the pockets of the administrators.

When talks first began about freezing wages, it was stated that everyone, no exceptions, would freeze, now the story had changed to union employees only. I have been to too many board meetings where the public has told the board that sacrifices must be made by all and that we must all pull together. Now I ask the public, how do we get the ones who make the rules to follow the rules?

Questions qualifications

Editor:
I am worried about Lake Zurich. I just read an article describing the qualifications of the best of "19" candidates the Citizen's Party is running for office. The qualifications of the first, G. Montgomery Campbell are that he was on the school board when the system went broke and had the teachers on strike. He was a village trustee during the period of uncontrolled growth we are still paying for. The next Deborah A. Vasels will have to quit the township office she was elected before fulfilling her term or face a conflict of interest. This is hardly a recommendation. Blum's only listed experience was to get a tax increase approved, on the third try. Mr. Coffey has the worst attendance record (less than 50 percent) in recent years of anyone on the Lake Zurich Zoning Board of Appeals that is his only government experience. Kenneth Grooms doesn't understand the village clerk's duties, seems to think he will run village hall. Grooms has erroneously passed information regarding parks and equipment. Are these really the best candidates Concerned Citizens Party has to offer? If so, it is a good thing we already have a competent administration in office. Punch lucky 13.

Resent political stance

Editor:
I want to provide further information on who the Unity Party is. The party's filings with the county clerk state that Donald Skidmore, the superintendent of the Antioch Grade Schools is both chairman and treasurer. This is the same Donald Skidmore who led the controversial and divisive fight to stratify the grade schools a few years ago and who spends grade school money on a newsletter supporting the passage of the $29 million high school bond issue.

I highly resent the immorality of Mr. Skidmore's taking sides in this campaign, which has clearly divided the village in many ways. He is an appointed public official who should be able to operate independently of political influence and also be free to cooperate with all our elected officials to obtain the best education for our children.

One war with a clear-cut victory

by PAT CHRISTENSEN
Lakeland Newspapers

The war is over and the winner is clear, although a few special interest groups might choose to dispute it. Yellow won.

The war of the ribbons was bitter and hard-fought. Yellow battled orange, which made a feisty showing, but couldn't go the distance, since it didn't show up well in black-and-white news photos. There was a brief flurry of activity on the pink front, but the real fight came when thousands flocked to the tri-colored standard of the red, white, and blue. Victory was virtually assured when this army, in most cases successfully, merged with the yellow brigade. The combination proved to be unstoppable. Military analysts will be applauding the strategic brilliance of this maneuver for years to come. It was another clear-cut victory for the forces of democracy and patriotism everywhere.

Of course, there were casualties. Let us not forget our brave, though fallen, comrades. They perished, not from the blood lost to pin picks, but from the budgetary hemorrhaging caused by retailers who hiked the price of ribbon from 85 cents per 35-yard roll to a staggering $1.29 per yard.

Commentary

A few hardy shocktroops countered this offensive with the liberal use of yellow yarn, and these small sacrifices of war were not made in vain, proving that virtue must prevail. Although prices did not significantly fall, the placards advising the severe shortage of yellow ribbons came down as retailers restocked shelves with that precious commodity, so much in demand.

There were, of course, isolated protest movements. Public officials and private citizens paraded openly, without a hint of yellow fluttering, in a brave but doomed show of personal courage. Despite their shocking appearance, the American public graciously allowed these aberrations to pass with minimal interference.

In some cases there were even radical public statements issued, questioning the real message being sent by the ribbon brigade to impressionable schoolchildren.

But, by-and-large, these small voices of dissent went unnoticed, and when this was not possible, they were quickly shouted down.

There was, in fact, little dispute over the moral implications of the ribbon war. And the final test of all this is headed home in convoys from that other war in the Middle East.

When returning troops arrive home to cheering throngs and see the ribbons, still proudly displayed after all these months (some limp and bedraggled, a few with scars or tatters), both friends and loved ones will proudly tell our brave fighting men and women about the other war, the one that was so valiantly fought right here on the home front.

And how yellow won.

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspaper

SCUD ATTACKS—Both sides in The Great Island Lake Trustee Race are accusing the other of Scud attacks in the days leading up to the Tuesday, April 2, election.

Last Sunday trustee candidate Fred Bigham had car loads of canvassers knocking on doors passing out literature. Most were veterans of the Jim Edgar for Governor campaign Bigham was involved in last fall. One of the cars, owned by a Northwestern University student who lives in Wisconsin, had plates from that state. "I'm just earning some money for college," one campaigner told Ed Reilly, who represents the other camp.

"Bigham has brought us two gifts from the big city," Reilly said. "Chicago-style politics and paid patronage workers."

As for the opposition—Georgine Cooper, Wendy Sullivan and Steve Stiller—Bigham said: "Let them harass. We'll canvass."

Bigham's side was successful in having Stiller's name removed from the ballot for errors in filing his nominating petitions. Bigham's battle is now with Cooper.

"Thanks to her, there is a lake in Island Lake," Bigham remarked. "Her mother, Virginia Grek, once sued the Island Lake Property Owners Assn. for $30,000 because of a broken leg Georgine suffered in an Aug. 1968 raft accident. She eventually won $3,000, which was all the association had to its name. It was forced to disband and control of the lake was turned over to the tiny village."

Bigham didn't get the endorsement of a daily newspaper in the race. Stiller, identified as a 10-year trustee, did. He is completing his first term. So did Cooper. She is identified as being village president. That came as a surprise to Mayor Chuck Amrich.

"I wonder who supplied the newspaper with information on the candidates?" Bigham asked.

POPULAR NUMBER—Fred Bigham, one of the candidates for trustee in Island Lake, has a great campaign handout. No, it's not the leftover pot holders from last year's race for precinct committeeman.

This time it's a large card with about two-dozen toll-free state telephone numbers. It gives the number, for example, of the Consumer's Hotline in the governor's office (800-642-3112) and to report poachers (800-252-0163).

But the most popular number is for winning lottery ticket information (800-252-1775). "People don't have to spend 50 cents to dial the number given on television," Bigham said. "This gives the same information—free."

"See, I've already saved the people of Island Lake money."

CAUGHT IN MIDDLE—Wauconda, too, is having its political battle. Caught in the middle is Congressman Philip Crane (R-Arlington Heights) of the 12th Dist. He showed up at a late February breakfast sponsored by the Citizens Party, gave a brief talk and posed for pictures.

This ticked off Trustee James Eschenbauch, an incumbent on the April ballot and member of the opposing Wauconda Unified Party. He's also chairman of the township Republican party.

Eschenbauch got Crane to write a letter saying he was embarrassed about attending the breakfast. It was written after Eschenbauch pointed out one of the candidates on the Unified Party ticket is Ken Sjorslev, a Democratic precinct committeeman in Wauconda Twp., employee of the Democratic-controlled state attorney general's office and Democratic campaign worker.

"The invitation (to the breakfast) was sent to my district office," Crane wrote. "When it was accepted I was unaware the trustee election was contested. Had I known I would not have accepted. I did not expect to give a talk and, although I was asked to say a few words, I assure you I did not endorse any of the candidates. However, I know now that my presence, in itself, might have mistakenly been interpreted as an endorsement, which I regret."

Sjorslev and his Citizen Party running mates point out village elections are non-partisan. Bill Whitely, who sent the invitation, said he has been trying for two years to heal party wounds and this breakfast was part of that effort.

Apparently the olive branch approach isn't working.

MUNICIPAL BANKER—How many mayors do you know who are bank directors?

If you live in Mundelein you know at least one—Mayor Marilyn Sindles.

She is on the board of the First Midwest Bank NA, the former Bank of Mundelein. The job pays $2,000 a year.

First Midwest has three Village of Mundelein accounts. The rival First of America Bank, the old First National Bank, has 10 village accounts.

No accounts have switched banks since the mayor has been on the board.

DEAL MAKERS—F.T. "Mike" Graham is launching a few attacks, too. This time his targets are County Board Chairman

Robert Depke (former car salesman) and Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton.

They cut a deal in March to extend sewers to the planned 2,000-acre Zale and Lexington home developments on Gurnee's west side. This came despite a county master zoning plan that marked the land for other less density.

"Depke and Welton should win the Used Car Salesman of the Year Award," Graham said of selling the plan to the County Board.

Graham calls Welton the Teflon Mayor. "This man has a board that does and says exactly what he wants. It starts with Gus Petropolous (former appliance store owner), who now runs the video department at the Welton Country Market in Gurnee."

As for the Zale and Lexington developments, Graham said they will increase the Country Market's base by 4,000 customers.

How does Depke benefit? "His wife, Georgann, sells real estate," Graham said. "If she doesn't sell these homes now, it will be later when people come and go."

What do you, I or the rest of Lake County get out of it? "$46-million in new taxes for the infrastructure these new developments will require," Graham predicted.

Education at a crossroads

Editor:

Taxpayers of Antioch High School Dist. 117 are faced with a problem common to many school districts in our area. The problem, overcrowding, is a result of significant housing development. The elementary school districts feeding Antioch High School are also experiencing similar problems. Facilities at all levels are bulging at the seams with additional enrollment growth expected.

What is unique with regard to this problem, is the solution being offered to the voters of April 2. On the ballot will be a question asking voters to approve a bond sale of $29.9 million for construction of a new high school. The elementary feeder districts have agreed to utilize the current high school facility in lieu of their own construction. This combined effort presents the taxpayer with the most economical solution to the school facilities questions facing the communities of Antioch, Lindenhurst and Lake Villa. If the referendum is not approved, this "window of opportunity" will be lost. The elementary districts will be forced to embark on construction projects of their own, and the space problems at Antioch High School will still need to be resolved. Referenda competing for tax dollars will be placed on future ballots.

Education opportunities also present themselves with this solution. Not only will high school students be offered facilities far superior to the overcrowded and inadequate facilities found at the current Antioch site, but elementary feeder students, sharing the facilities at the current Antioch site, may be able to combine resources to provide course offerings not currently available at the elementary level. These types of unique educational opportunities are currently available only to high school students through the cooperative programs offered at the Lake County Area Vocational Center in Grayslake.

I urge your support for the high school question. Our future will depend on the educational foundations given to today's youth. It is our obligation as a community to provide our children with the proper educational tools. What greater investment can be made than in the youth of our communities. Vote yes!

Ronald Chilcote
Lake Villa

Clear expansion need

Editor:

On April 2, the residents of Dist. 95 will have the opportunity to vote "yes" on a bond referendum. The purpose of this election is to provide new elementary and junior high school buildings. A constantly increasing enrollment causes the need for these new facilities. It is necessary to pass this bond issue in order to provide necessary classrooms and instructional areas.

There is a little question about the need. The students are here now and their number will continue to grow. It is important to recognize that the voter has to make a decision regarding an increase in local property taxes in order to relieve these overcrowded facilities. That decision needs to be based on facts.

Dist. 95 owns all of the school site property on which these two new buildings will be constructed. Therefore, all of the facilities and the related playing fields are under the sole jurisdiction of the school district. These new facilities will be made available to residents of Dist. 95, just as any other district property is likewise available to its residents. Secondly, there is no concern on the part of the school officials, the architects, or others involved in developing the plans for the sanitary systems for these new buildings. An appropriate septic field and related needs will be provided. Residents should not be concerned about the relationship of this project to issues in other governmental areas. The school district site will be a self-contained unit, capable of providing the best possible facilities and improved instructional program for Dist. 95 and its community.

School mismanagement

Editor:

I received a pamphlet from the Round Lake Schools about the April 2 referendum. The information from this pamphlet is evasive. It does not say that the average homeowner would pay $21 a month on a house that the assessed valuation is $63,000. If your home is assessed at more than $63,000 you will pay more.

Senior citizens of Round Lake who have their homes paid for are going to have a hard time coming up with the extra increase in property taxes. Even if the referendum passes don't count on programs or jobs being reinstated.

The answer to the deficit in Round Lake Schools is mismanagement of funds, over staffed and over paid administration, and a superintendent retiring with $55,000 and a new vehicle. That could pay for one or two teacher salaries or much needed learning center aids. Also, look forward to another back door referendum that the school board can pass without any say from us, the taxpayers of Round Lake. When will it stop?

SBDC has big plans for small businesses

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

So, you've been visited by the spirit of entrepreneurialism. You've got a great idea for a product or a service that could mean big $$$. But, you have only a specter of business acumen, and that means you don't have a ghost of a chance.

Who ya gonna call?
Art's office!

That's Art Cobb, director of the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at The College of Lake County.

Since its inception in November of 1986, the SBDC has helped start nearly 100 businesses and helped create over 200 jobs.

Cobb, who took over the center in August of 1987, said the key to starting a successful business is looking ahead.

"The biggest reason people fail is that they don't have proper planning," Cobb said. "They don't research the market or the competition. They may be in a poor location. Or, they may be undercapitalized. Nine out of 10 times, these are the major components that contribute to the demise of a business."

While "The sweet smell of success," may be the buzz-phrase, you're more likely to get a whiff of perspiration around a successful entrepreneur, Cobb said.

"A person has to be motivated and ready to work some long hours at first," Cobb offered. "They've got to be ready to take some risks and make some sacrifices."

Despite the current crunch, Cobb feels there's always room for the right idea.

"I think the opportunities are out there," Cobb said. "Lake County is unique — there are things this community needs and wants. The key for the individual is to research the market and understand the customers' needs and the competition."

You don't have to be a new kid on the block to get help. SBDC is ready to help any business with fewer than 500 employees or less than $3.5 million in sales.

The SBDC at CLC is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. It's one of about 50 such centers around the state.

At no cost, the prospective business man or woman can receive one-on-one confidential business counseling. The counseling is done by proven professionals from a variety of backgrounds — business owners, certified public accountants, trade association members, university and college staff and faculty members and retired executives.

In direct correlation, the counseling pertains to a variety of business areas — planning, financing, research, government regulations, accounting, marketing, recruiting, computers, distribution and more.

In addition, supplemental seminars covering different business aspects are offered at a very low cost.

Cobb said the SBDC will analyze small-business proposals to determine feasibility. If it's a go, SBDC will help obtain financing. He said his office has helped secure loans from $50,000 to $1 million.

Cobb himself has a solid business background, with an affinity for helping

'A person has to be motivated and ready to work some long hours at first. They've got to be ready to take some risks and make some sacrifices.' — Art Cobb the little guy. He received his bachelor's of science degree in business from Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn.

In 1980, Cobb started working with the Indianapolis Business Development Foundation in his hometown. That organization is funded by the U.S. Department of Commerce for the assistance of minority entrepreneurs.

In 1985, Cobb came to Chicago to work for NORCOM International, a consulting firm under contract with the U.S. Department of Transportation to help minority businesses.

In 1986, he worked with Burgos & Associates, another consulting group working for the U.S. Department of Commerce for minority businesses.

And, Cobb loves his job.

"It's great," he said. "I really enjoy what I'm doing. I get good satisfaction from sharing information and my experience someone eager and willing to turn it into a positive experience."

"I really look forward to coming to work each day," Cobb added.

Who ya gonna call?

Art ain't afraid of no challenge.

Alayne Gardner-Carimi, president and creator of Heart's Delight, poses with Art Cobb, director of the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at The College of Lake County.

Baker delighted with help from CLC center

"Lean" cheesecake made to be heart-healthy, some might call this the eighth wonder of the world.

This wonder is one of several products by Heart's Delite, a new, delicious but lean bakery line, created by Alayne Gardner-Carimi, Great Lakes resident and client of the small Business Development Center at the College of Lake County.

As a consumer with a nutrition background and one who enjoys food, Carimi was very dissatisfied with the availability and quality of baked goods on the market. Although low-fat bakery products were desired by many, their availability seemed very limited.

"I was so frustrated with the quality of food products available that I decided to develop a line of quality low-fat products," she said.

Her education and work experience were assets to her new venture. Carimi has a master's of science degree in food science from the University of Florida. For three years she worked as a product development technologist for Oscar Mayer Research and Development in Madison, Wis. To further prepare her for this challenge, Carimi obtained certification as a baker from the American Institute of Baking, Manhattan, Kan.

After laboring intensively on a business plan, Carimi learned from the Illinois

Small Business Hot Line that she could receive free help from the CLC Small Business Development Center (SBDC). She promptly scheduled an appointment with SBDC director Arthur Cobb.

"Alayne's proposal was great," said Cobb. "She really impressed me. She researched her market well and knew what she wanted to do. A part of my role was to help establish a funding source with a financial institution in Lake County."

The SBDC is always available for support and as a resource, Cobb said, and this was the situation in Alayne's case.

Carimi was equally impressed with the service she received from the SBDC.

"Art Cobb was very professional, helpful and friendly. He had a wealth of knowledge as to what was out there and how to get funding, which was my biggest difficulty," she added.

Cobb was not only impressed with Carimi's business plan, but also with her products and her proposed line, "Delitefully Yours."

"The product line is great and also innovative," Cobb said. "We are a very health-conscious society and these products provide an alternative for many individuals."

Carimi's desserts, which can be frozen, are referred to as lean bakery products be-

Film Review

Michael J. Fox is emerging as a star personality that is so ingratiating and well-liked by the public, that he simply plays Michael J. Fox in every film and movie goers love it. He can keep his career going on this premise for years. Look at how well it worked well for stars like John Wayne, Jimmy Stewart and Clark Gable, so why argue with success?

In his new flick "Hard Way" we have Fox again playing Fox, an adventure movie star, who wants to get the real feel of a new buddy cop role by tagging along with a real cops' cop, James Woods.

Of course tough guy Woods can't stand being shadowed by this namby-pamby film star and shows his displeasure often.

Woods, a very fine actor, gets a little heavy once in awhile, but the overall effect is some light and pleasing entertainment, great at video rental prices, but not really calling for the hefty $6.50 theater prices.

One particularly funny scene has Fox alone in the ghetto displaying his All-American good guy personality to teen gang members that answer his questions with live gun fire.

The scene in the subway where, pretending to be a real cop, he takes on more gang members who are harassing an old lady, also draws some laughs, especially when he yells for someone to call a cop, "I mean another cop besides me," while buffering the gun fire by ducking behind a post.

We give this one a 3.5 out of five stars. If you're a Fox fan, don't miss it. If you just want some light entertainment, wait for it to come out on video.

Be There

Anyone who is the kind that loves to look at all the Easter recipes in the food sections of this month's magazines and this week's newspapers, but would rather go out for Easter dinner, has a great choice with the Easter specials offered by area restaurants.

Andres Steak and Seafood House on Hwy. 12 in Richmond is having an Easter Champagne Brunch, from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for those who like to do their big dining right after Easter services. Andres offers 40 items on the brunch table that will of course include lamb and baked ham. Adult prices are $12.95 and children 10 and under will eat for $6.95.

At the Colony House in Trevor, Wis., in the Fred Astair and Judy Garland tradition, each lady diner on Easter Sunday, who wears her Easter bonnet, will receive a free glass of wine.

Dino's Den in Fox Lake is the place to meet the Easter Bunny over breakfast, lunch or dinner.

This Saturday, at Lamb's Farm in Libertyville from 1 to 3 p.m., the Easter Bunny himself will present a child of your choice any Easter basket you purchase for a little one.

Staring at $7.95, the Diplomat in Gurnee will make Easter special with dinners featuring baked ham, roast turkey, prime rib or leg of lamb.

$15.95 per person will buy Easter Brunch at the Holiday Inn in Gurnee, on Easter, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. On the menu for that special day are filet of sole/salmon mouse ala champagne, filet of beef tenderloin.

Ice Capades gets artistic

The Ice Capades, which opened on March 26, at the Rosemont Horizon, is 'OnTop of the World' edition. North America's favorite spectacle will continue through March 31. Romanian skater Simone Grigorescu, the Simpson's and Barbie, as well as medalists Tracey Solomons, Ian Jenkins and Elizabeth Manley will be appearing. Other champions set to appear are Jonathan Thomas and Kelly Johnson, Canada's Julie Brault, the Beattys from Great Britain, jump champ Steve Taylor, as well as the funny dives of Don Otto.

Bowen's 2 shows fete two

A double bill will be featuring Leonard Bernstein's "Trouble in Tahiti," and Pergolesi's "The Maid Made Me Mistress" April 26 through May 5, in Goodfellow Hall at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Waukegan.

Performances on Fridays and Saturdays start at 8 p.m. and on Sundays at 7 p.m. All performances will be sung in English to piano accompaniment.

These two operas show differing viewpoints of couples relationships. Dinah and Sam struggle to find a way to share a life with each other, while Uberto and Seropina in "The Maid Made Me Mistress," laughingly find a way to make a marriage commitment to each other.

"Trouble in Tahiti" was Bernstein's contribution to the operatic world some six years before the completion of "West Side Story." The works have many similarities, most notably the jazz rhythms that run throughout.

Pergolesi's "Maid" was the work which laid the base for the opera comique. Written in 1772, it is a hilarious look at ways to trap a man into marriage.

Reservations are recommended. For tickets or information, call (708)360-4741.

Juliana Lehman

Ballet her great love

Juliana dreams she's dancing through life

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

She's dreamed of being a dancer ever since she first set foot into a dancing class when she was eight years old.

The depth of her interest and enthusiasm for things terpsichorean is shown when Juliana Lehman, 15, devotes almost 20 hours a week out of her busy teenage schedule to dancing.

She is a sophomore at Carmel High School and also carries an honors class load along with her dancing.

Now those 20 hours do not include the countless hours spent in rehearsal and performing when she is appearing on stage in a show or concert.

Her most recent thrill came when her teacher, the well known dancer from the Boston Ballet Frederick Alexson, urged her to take part in a class that took place on the stage of the Civic Opera House in Chicago while the American Ballet Theater rehearsed for an appearance.

Being on the stage with, and talking to such ballet greats as Susan Jasse, and Cynthia Harvey, plus having lunch next to Martine Van Hamel and Cheryl Yeager was the thrill of a short lifetime for the teenager, not to mention seeing Marianna Tcherkassky.

She's a sophomore at Carmel High School and carries a load of honors classes along with 20 hours of dancing a week.

Between classes, French Club meetings, and a full social life, she has managed to spend much time studying dancing at the Talent Forum in Libertyville.

She is now in rehearsal for the part of Eve in "Adam and Eve," for a Talent Forum show set to go on stage in June. There's also a performance for the North Suburban Y in the offing.

"Brigadoon" at Marriott

"Brigadoon," the haunting musical fantasy by Jay Lerner and Frederick Lowe will open at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre April 10 and run through June 16. Playing the two Americans that happen upon the fantasy Scottish village are David Studwell and Sean Grennan. Playing their loves are Mary Ernster and Kathy Santen. Call (708) 634-0200.

How to Get a Good Deal on a Cruise

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Undoubtedly your best bargain in vacation travel right now is cruising.

Just add up what you spent on your last land vacation including all your meals, snacks and entertainment. Now figure what it would have cost you if you ordered room service every morning for breakfast. At dinner you couldn't decide between the steak and the lobster so you ordered both. All this is included in the price of your cruise.

However, the point of this article is not to convince you that cruises are a real bargain. A simple comparison with land packages makes that obvious. But rather to give you some advice on how to get the best price on your cruise.

Most cruise lines have three different sets of prices depending upon when you cruise. If you can travel during September or October, you're going to get the lowest price. April and May are also discounted by many cruise lines.

When you are quoted a price, inquire if airfare is included. Most cruise lines include airfare in their rates, but offer a discount on "cruise only" prices. If the airlines are offering some really low airfares to the city from which your ship sails, it may be cheaper to book the air separately, and take the cruise only discount. However, supersaver airfares are not flexible and non-refundable, so be sure of sailing times and dates.

Travel agencies who book a large volume of cruises are often given discounts and special rates by the cruise lines on selected sailing dates. If your travel plans are flexible, you can save considerably by asking about these specials.

You can save some real money if you have friends or club members who want to cruise. Most cruise lines offer 1 free cabin with every 8 paid along with group discounts. Make sure that free cabin belongs to you by your travel agency.

You can even save with just two couples, if you don't mind sharing a cabin. With special 3rd and 4th person rates, you can sometimes get a suite with a separate living room and even two baths for less than two closet sized inside cabins.

Try and book with an agency that takes the time to get to know you and is experienced in cruises. It doesn't matter how much you save, if the cruise you book is not the right one for you.

Andre's asks the musical question: 'What About Luv?'

Andre's Steakhouse and Rosebud Productions are set to open the award-winning musical "What About Luv?" this Friday and Saturday, March 29 and 30. Subsequent playdates are: April 5, 6, 7, 12, 13, 14, 19, and 20.

"What About Luv?" won the 1986 Outer Drama Critics Award for both best music and best lyrics for an Off-Broadway musical. This award went to the show's writers Jeffrey Sweet, Howard Marren, and Susan Birkenhead.

The musical is based upon Murray Schisgal's 1960's Broadway comedy hit, "Luv." The play concerns an unconventional love triangle among Milt and Ellen Manville and Harry Berlin.

It takes place in a most unlikely setting for a romance, the Brooklyn Bridge. The play takes some hilarious twists and turns with many funny sight-gags.

The show features the talents of Rosline Scheske (Antioch) as Ellen, Bill Belongia (Kenosha) as Milt, and Mark Badtke (Genoa City) as Harry.

Tom Hausman (Antioch/Wilmot High) is the producer/director, Chris Heilgeist is the music director/flutist, Karl Heilgeist is the stage manager/percussionist, Tracy Kiederlen is the piano virtuoso, and Dan Belongia is the pit band's trombonist.

For information and reservations, call (815)678-2671. Andre's Steakhouse is located on U.S. 12 one half mile north of Ill. Rte. 173 in Richmond. This production of "What About Luv?" marks the show's midwest premiere and certainly an event all theatre lovers won't want to pass up.

Adler to host concert

Two gifted blues musicians, mandolinist Yank Rachell and pianist John Campbell, will bring their combined century-plus of talent and experience to the Libertyville High School Studio Theatre, 708 W. Park Ave., Libertyville, for a concert on Friday, April 5, at 8 p.m.

A career that spans over 60 years has taken Yank Rachell and his blues mandolin to Europe, Canada, and most parts of the U.S., playing major clubs and festivals.

Born in Brownsville, Tenn., he developed his skills playing the rough house parties and fish fries common to the area. In 1929 he was "discovered" playing on the street corners in Memphis, Tenn., and recorded for the first time on the Victor label. Numerous recordings were to follow. Two recent releases find him expanding his scope into a more contemporary blues fusion in a manner few his age have done successfully.

John Campbell was born in Alabama, and he, too, got his start playing at house parties. Campbell crisscrossed the country before settling in Waukegan, where he made his living for 30 years playing parties and clubs.

Concert admission is $6 for adults; $4 for Cultural Center members; $3 for seniors and children 5 to 15; and free for children 4 and under. Tickets will be available at the door on a first come, first served basis. The doors open 30 minutes before the scheduled curtain time.

Serendipity Singers featured

John Ross of Wauconda and the rest of the Serendipity Singers will host a one-hour television special entitled, "Your Easter Bonnet," Saturday, March 30.

The show, which was shot in British Columbia, will air at 9 p.m. on WGBO, Channel 66.

Ross, the son of Jacque and Bob Peterson of Wauconda, wrote three new songs for the show. The tunes are "Suddenly Spring," "Smile" and "Forever Love."

Special guests featured on the show include Helen Reddy, Charlie Pride, Tom Wopat, Paul Williams and Patrick Macnee.

Everyone to swing at Legion

The whole family can get into the swing of things at a traditional community barn dance on Saturday, April 6, at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 715 N. Milwaukee Ave., in Libertyville.

Experienced dance caller and teacher, Bill Sudkamp, will teach each dance first so even the most inexperienced dancer can join in the fun. An added treat for all will be the opportunity to dance to the old time music of the It's Fer Reel String-band.

The circle, square, and line dances taught represent an important part of our heritage as Americans and still provide community members with a chance to enjoy the simple joys of fellowship. The Legion Hall in Libertyville has been the site of many such dances for decades and provides a living link to a simpler time.

Admission is $4 for adults; $3 for seniors and Cultural Center members; $2 for children 9 to 15; and free for children eight years and younger. Tickets are available at the door the evening of the event. There are no advanced ticket sales.

United Way honors leadership contributions

The United Way of Lake county's third annual Pillars Club Gala was held at Midlane Country Club to recognize the individuals who made leadership contributions of $1,000 or more during the 1990 campaign.

United Way of Lake county's Chairman of the Board, Teresa Hall Bartels of Manpower Temporary Services, explained that since its inception, the Pillars Club membership has grown to 303, with 5 Alexis de Tocqueville members, those contributing $10,000 or more. She thanked the 73 couples attending for their generous support. "Because of you, citizens of Lake county will enjoy a better quality of life," she said.

Special recognition was given to United Way's Alexis de Tocqueville Society members. The Alexis de Tocqueville Society was created in 1972 by United Way of America to recognize persons who have rendered outstanding service as volunteers in their community. Those receiving Alexis de Tocqueville awards include:

Neal Anderson, running back with the Chicago Bears; Duane L. Burnham, Abbott Laboratories; Vernon R. Loucks, Jr., Baxter Healthcare Corp.; Sheila Melton and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rosenquist, Lake County Grading.

Special thanks was also given to Midlane Country Club for hosting the event.

90th birthday honor

Lion Willis Overholser, a founding member of the Libertyville Club, receives pin from past club President Chuck Maguire, identifying him as recipient of the Melvin E. How to manage your angry feelings before they manage you

April 10, 1991 7-8 p.m.
Presented by:

Bernard Levine, Ph.D.
Staff Psychologist
Saint Therese Medical Center

Everyone gets angry. Work pressures, conflicts with friends and family, and the frustrations of daily life can all contribute to irritability and feelings of resentment. It's important, though, to be able to deal with your angry feelings constructively. This presentation will help you learn how to express anger more comfortably and directly so these feelings cause fewer problems in relationships and are altogether more manageable and tolerable.

Dr. Levine is a clinical psychologist on the staff of Saint Therese Medical Center and is in private practice in Libertyville.

Interpreting noises car makes, helps find trouble

Ominous car sounds tell you something may be wrong; understanding their cause can help you and your mechanic find and correct the problem before it becomes serious. Here are some of the more common noises, listed by Car Care Council.

•A "clunk" from under the car when you start forward or back up could be a warning that a universal joint is failing. That's serious if it breaks and the drive shaft drops while you're driving.

If you have a front-wheel drive car, you'll also get a clunking sound if you have a looseness in a CV joint (like a universal joint that connects the front wheels to the transverse axle).

•When you apply the brakes and hear a squeal or a scraping sound, that could indicate worn brake linings or pads. If allowed to continue, it could result in damaging brake drums or rotors, making the repair more expensive.

•A thumping sound from a tire could be caused by flat spots on the tread due to improper balance or alignment. It also could be tread separation, which could result in blowout.

•The sound of ticking in the engine usually is a valve lifter, generally heard when the engine is idling.

•A sudden screech from under the hood could be a worn or loose drive belt.

•A knocking or pinging from under the hood when you accelerate could be from low grade gasoline, incorrect timing or other tune-up adjustments.

•A whining sound as you move from a standstill to normal driving speed could be coming from the transmission and could mean you are low on fluid.

BISON

OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 50'-0" X 34'-0"
LIVING: 1450 square feet
GARAGE: 708 square feet

BISON (400-43)
By Landmark Designs, Inc.

Railed decks wrap around three sides of the modified-A-frame Bison, adding another 500 square feet of living space to the nearly 1,500 inside. This is a home that would blend easily with a woodland setting.

The living area is located on the second level, with a garage and crawl space below. It could be built on a slope, as a vacation get-away, or on a flat city lot. If constructed on level ground, it wouldn't take much to redesign the crawl space into usable living areas.

High, open-beamed vaulted ceilings grace the living room, dining room, kitchen and den, giving these rooms a feeling of spaciousness. Kitchen counter space is augmented by a work island with built-in range and oven, and the area is brightened by a garden window. The kitchen also has a built-in desk. A small pantry is tucked behind the door into a large utility room right off the kitchen.

The dining room is on the same level as the kitchen, as is the den, but the sunken living room is three steps down, making the ceiling here seem that much higher. The living room has a built-in wood box next to the fireplace.

The master suite is small, but has a private bathroom and accesses the deck through sliding glass doors. The bathroom which serves the other bedroom, along with the rest of the home, is naturally illuminated by a skylight.

A small closet is tucked into one end of the airtight entry.

For a study plan of the BISON (400-43), send $7.50 to Landmark Design, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering.) Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Lakeland recognized for state excellence

Jill DePasquale, retail advertising manager, left, and Joann Ritzwoller, classified advertising manager, accepted a second place in general excellence in advertising in the Illinois Press Assn. Newspaper Advertising Contest.

Lakeland Newspapers won second place for advertising excellence in the category for larger newspapers in the 1991 Illinois Press Assn. Annual Newspaper Advertising Contest.

The Lake County newspaper group was nosed out for the coveted sweepstakes award by the Star of Chicago Heights, owned and operated by the Chicago Sun-Times.

Third place for general advertising excellence was captured by the State Journal-Register of Springfield, owned and operated by Copley Newspapers of California.

Honorable mentions for general excellence were accorded the Daily Dispatch of Moline and the Naperville Sun, a regional community weekly newspaper serving southwestern Chicago suburbs.

The general excellence honor and individual awards were presented to Jill DePasquale, retail advertising manager of the Lakeland group, and JoAnn Ritzwoller, Lakeland's classified advertising manager, who represented the company publishing 15 Lake County community newspapers at a meeting of advertising executives at Decatur Holiday Inn.

Judges selected from more than 900 entries in competition that brought together newspapers ranging from the smallest to the largest communities in Illinois.

"I'm extremely proud of our staff. The honor of second place in Illinois represents the talent, skills and hard work of a great many persons," declared Publisher/President William H. Schroeder. Lakeland employs 87 full and part-time persons in publishing 15 individual community newspapers serving four counties, Lake, Cook, McHenry and Kenosha. Lakeland also publishes the Great Lakes Bulletin, official newspaper for Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Judges cited the Lakeland group for "excellent use of white space and graphics throughout the newspaper. Good use of color and printing with consistency throughout the paper. Solid advertising vehicle for community."

"Considering the general excellence winners, Lakeland is in some pretty good company. That's a tribute to the dedication and professionalism of our staff," observed DePasquale.

Judges recognized Lakeland Newspapers for second place in two special section categories directed by Ritzwoller. The sections were community tributes to Gurnee and Grayslake, and written by Steve Peterson and Pat Christensen, respectively, of the Lakeland editorial staff.

A Thanksgiving promotion featuring a basket of goodies in full process color published in Lakeland Newspapers last fall was adjudged second in best overall circulation promotion competition. The campaign was conducted in conjunction with Merk's Cheese, Bristol. Judges commented, "Ad layout and design very imaginative and clean."

Familiar Lancers shoot for third softball crown

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When College of Lake County softball coach Sue Garcia had initial meetings planning for the 1991 softball season, there was probably not a lot of time allocated for introductions.

For Garcia is in her fifth year at CLC and nine players are returning from last year's team, including seven starters and two sister combinations. The Lancers are hoping that experience coupled with a history of winning the conference title in every other year in Garcia's coaching career at CLC will provide momentum for success.

"I want to be well over .500, but we need to start on the right foot," Garcia said.

The Lancers were 22-23 last year, with a second-place Skyway Conference finish to McHenry. They were eliminated by Kankakee in the post-season tournament.

The Lancers are attempting to get off to that strong start with a spring trip against teams which are usually nationally ranked in junior college.

"Last year was not a disappointment, but I felt we could do much better," Garcia said.

Her first impressions after the initial weeks of workouts in the gym?

"Our defense looks all right, but I am not sure about our pitchers," Garcia said.

Among the familiar faces back for CLC is pitcher Kelly Gust. Gust was 9-9 last year. Two newcomers are on the pitching staff, but are coming in with impressive backgrounds. Lynette Kowalke, a righty, comes to CLC from Mundelein where the Mustangs dominated the North Suburban

All in the families

Conference and were conference champs last year. Kowalke was on the 1989 MHS team which made the Elite Eight. Denise Barr, another all-conference player, from Grant, is a lefty on the pitching staff. "I've got two good freshmen," Garcia said.

Dundee-Crown graduate Sheryl Panek, a sophomore, has transferred from McHenry this year and gives CLC a third lefty.

The outfield positions could be stronger for CLC this spring, Garcia said. Karen Gust returns in centerfield. "She has picked up some good habits outfielders should have," Garcia said.

Andrea True, a Warren Twp. High School graduate, is back as is Sue Spiller from Zion.

Shannon Stanek, whose brother Shawn is on the CLC baseball team, is at third. Jessica Elsner is back at second base and Kelly Gust could play there as well. Kim McDonald, a Zion-Benton High School graduate, is a returning starter at shortstop.

The Johansen sisters return, as Sandy is a catcher and Sarah is an outfielder.

Stanek was last year's top hitter at .350 while Kelly Gust was at .336 and Karen Gust .301.

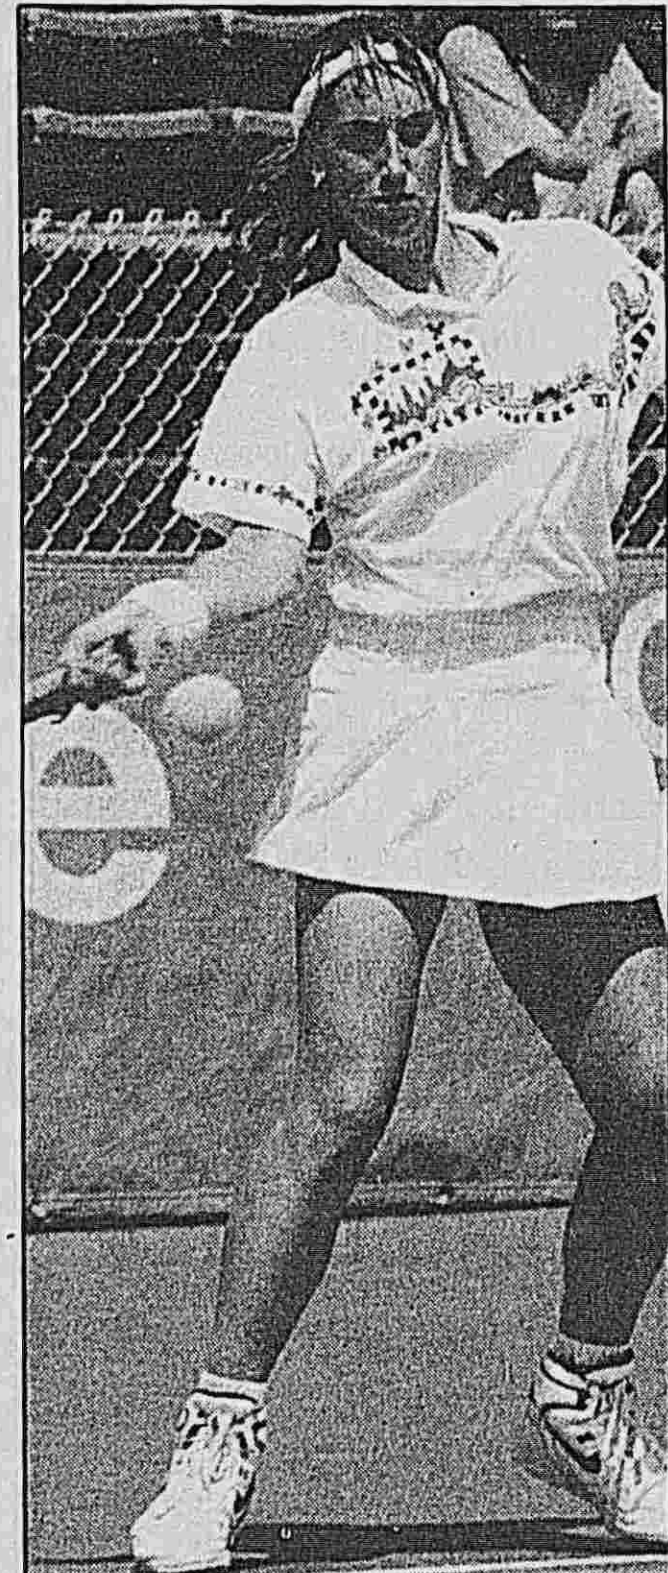

McHenry won the conference title last year with a perfect 12-0 mark, but times are changing for the league powerhouse. Coach Ozzie Rometo resigned last spring and assistant Michelle Zimmerman has taken over. Garcia said she expects Elgin and 'Vaubensee to contend as well for the crown. Conference play starts with an away game at Oakton April 1. The first home game is April 2 against Marquette.

And if history repeats its pattern, CLC could have another trophy come May.

Harvey-Wild taking on pro-circuit rigors

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

She's young, she's talented and she's embarked upon a career that could prove both personally satisfying and extremely lucrative.

To paraphrase one song, "the future's so bright she's wearin' shades." That doesn't leave much but "your daddy's rich and your momma's good lookin'."

Linda Harvey-Wild is beginning her second year on the professional tennis circuit, and by all accounts, the sky's the limit for the 20-year-old Lake Zurich grad.

"No one can predict the future," Harvey-Wild said. "The main thing is staying healthy and having fun."

But achieving the level at which Harvey-Wild plays wasn't, of course, all fun and games.

She started her formal training at the tender age of 10, but that's old by some standards.

"A lot of people start when they're six or seven," Harvey-Wild said.

After a couple of years of lessons from one pro, Harvey-Wild went under the tutelage of her stepfather, Steve Wild. Wild, who took over the Libertyville Tennis Club in 1986, is also the creator of the National Junior Tennis Program.

"It's the best junior tennis program offered," Harvey-Wild said of her stepdad's plan. "There are a lot of other programs, but it's the best."

So, Harvey-Wild spent a great deal of her teens between the white lines with a racquet in her hand. During the summer, it was all-day workouts. During the academic year, she worked out after school and on weekends.

Because the IHSA rules limit the number of tennis tournaments in which a high school athlete can compete, Harvey-Wild was forced to forego playing at the prep level, if she wanted to thoroughly develop her game.

That didn't stop her from earning a scholarship to perennial NCAA power Southern California.

Something in the sunshine didn't agree with her, however. Harvey-Wild came down with hepatitis during her first

'I've got to focus on not beating myself on the court. I'll have my ups and downs, but I've got to keep going up.' — Linda Harvey-Wild semester at USC and she came home.

As it turned out, that was just fine with her. The Trojan women were working under a new coach, and the situation wasn't stable, Harvey-Wild said.

"It was real disorganized," she explained. "I wasn't have a lot of fun."

It wasn't long before Harvey-Wild recovered from her illness and opted for her professional status.

Despite her mom Lois' trepidation, Harvey-Wild decided to turn pro just three days before the Chicago Virginia Slims tournament in February of 1990.

Harvey-Wild's professional debut was an auspicious one as she upset No. 6-ranked Arán Sanchez in that Chicago tourney.

Over the course of her year as a pro, Harvey-Wild has had her ups and downs, but she's got the patience it takes to persevere. Unlike a child phenom, she's saving her best for the future.

"Some players jump up right away," Harvey-Wild said. "I didn't really jump up — I've moved up gradually."

Harvey-Wild played in all four Grand Slam events last year. That includes Wimbledon, The Australian Open, The U.S. Open and The French Open. She's also been a regular on the Slims circuit.

Memorable matches include a win over Zina Garrison and a loss to Gabriela Sabatini — two highly ranked players.

Harvey-Wild's best tourney thus far was the Danone Open in Brisbane, Aus. (Continued on Page 47)

Bears look to continue their winning loop ways

It is the dilemma facing every team which follows a conference champion, state qualifier or state champion.

What do you do the season after?

That is the situation confronting the Lake Zurich softball team as it prepares for a new campaign to begin with a non-conference clash at home against Crystal Lake Central April 2.

"We mentioned it (last year's success) briefly at the first meeting, but that was last year and now this year's team has to find its own identity. We can't rest on our laurels," Lake Zurich Coach Joe Kedizor said.

The Bears, if not ready to reach the level of last year's 23-3 team which became the first Lake County squad to win a game at the Elite Eight at Pekin, are picked by many to be a powerhouse in the Northwest Suburban Conference. The Bears, 13-1 in the NWSC last spring, have won the NWSC title in five of Kedizor's eight seasons and have finished second twice and third once.

The team's top pitcher could be Tina Coniglio, who was 14-1 with the junior varsity squad. Also on the staff are Erin Becker, freshman Lisa Konko and sophomore Tammy Belmont.

"All three are about equal. It gives us a nice nucleus," Kedizor said.

The Lake Zurich team this year is unique in that it is split among seniors, freshmen and sophomore players. Last year was a veteran squad, with no underclassmen playing a key role.

Returning are first baseman Jenny Minster, second baseman Theresa Kern, outfielders Joanne Beeh, Lisa LaMantia and Nancy McKillop and infielder Natlaie Goglin and Tricia Znorski.

Beeh is the top returning hitter, coming back off a 401 season.

Despite the fact it was only pre-season and one of the first days outside, the Bears' defense looked sharp this practice session. There were few balls thrown to the wrong base and only a couple of errors.

"We pride ourselves on defense," Kedizor said.

And that will never change, no matter the success of last year's team.

Returnees lead Antioch softball

Antioch's softball team is hoping seven will indeed be a lucky number as the Sequoits are aiming to challenge in the North Suburban Conference this year.

The Sequoits and other eight teams, are planning to make a bid for the NSC title as Mundelein has a new coach and no longer has the likes of Ashley Struggles in its lineup. Struggles is now at DePaul.

"Our goal is to finish in the top three in the conference," second-year coach Judy Smithisler said.

Right-handed pitcher Linda Scarvace was 8-4 last year for Antioch and will return to anchor the pitching staff.

Robin Horton, who pitched for the junior varsity last year, is expected to be the No. 2 pitcher.

Seniors back from the 1989 Antioch team which went 17-8, 12-6 in the NSC include: catcher Jenny Hagen, first baseman Linda Stark, left fielder Kelly Damron and third baseman Kelly Shaughnessy.

Stark and junior Janelle Macki, an outfielder, are expected to be the clutch hitters.

Juniors who could contribute include outfielder Macki and Amy LaFrontaine.

Board of health awards $59,939 in grants

The Lake County Board of Health announced that it has awarded a total of $59,939 in community grants for fiscal 1991. Community grants are awarded annually to established, tax-exempt, community-based agencies and organizations providing mental health, substance abuse and developmental disabilities services to Lake County residents. The grants are part of the board's ongoing efforts to enhance the health and well-being of Lake County residents. Grants went to the following six Lake County agencies:

A Safe Place, $5,000, to provide a domestic violence community education and in-service program.

Childserv, $15,000, to provide therapeutic services for children and families in Round Lake and Waukegan.

Independence Center, $7,500, to partially fund an additional staff position for the Center's kitchen unit and transitional employment program, thus resulting in an expansion of their rehabilitation program.

Start-up funds, $13,700, for a new agency called Lake County Parents Anonymous. The agency will provide training, guidance and support for a variety of programs along with weekly support groups to prevent child abuse.

Lake-McHenry Regional Program, $7,500, which will provide contact, referral and interim services to 150 families of children on the Parent Infant Center waiting list. This will allow families waiting for more intensive evaluation and services to be linked with supportive services and appropriate referrals once they made a request for evaluation or services at the Parent Infant Center.

Lake County Society for Human Development, $11,239, to provide partial funding for an office in western Lake County.

The grant process is coordinated by the Lake county Advisory Board and Coordinating Council for Mental Health, Substance Abuse and Developmental Disabilities Services (AB/C Council) which is an advisory body to the Lake County Board of Health.

CHILDRENS FOOT PROBLEMS

Pediatric foot problems can appear very early. They require attention because the bones in a child's foot are soft and pliable and easily damaged by constricting socks, shoes and even bedding. Shoes that fit are especially important for a young child's rapidly growing feet.

Parents have to be on the alert for early developmental problems, since children do not usually complain about them. If you notice that your child is toeling in or out excessively, has a flat foot or is walking or standing strangely, stumbling or tiring easily, you should consult your podiatrist.

If you are suffering from this condition, or have any further questions, contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a NO COST CONSULTATION* to discuss your treatment options.

Q. It only took my neighbor ten minutes to get her eyes examined. I spent almost an hour and paid ten dollars more. Why?

A. Generally, it takes from 30 to 60 minutes for an optometrist to give you all the tests needed to examine your eyes thoroughly for health and vision problems.

The results of the basic examination may call for additional tests. This will keep you in the examination chair longer and sometimes add to your costs.

Extra time may also be involved if you have special occupational vision needs or require a special lens design. It also takes more time and tests to determine a contact lens prescription.

Ask your optometrist in advance approximately how long your examination will take. Your eyes and vision can be shortchanged by an examination that cuts corners. Your vision is too precious to risk.

Make your wishes known in a living will

by JAMES HOLLENSTEINER

Most everyone aspires to a long and healthy life. But not everyone wants to prolong life if life is not healthy and not worth living.

We've often heard it said, "Pull the plug if I'm a vegetable." But that's easier said than done. On what basis and authority can someone make the decision to bring death to a body that is still living? That's an ethical question on which individual views differ. It's also a difficult and complicated issue for the legal and medical professions.

Laws on the right to die versus the right to live are evolving both by statute and court decision. In the process, an individual's constitutional guarantees and common law rights to privacy and self-determination are being recognized. As a result, individuals can now more effectively declare their wishes and expect those wished to be observed.

For many years, the prevailing view has seemed to be, "If there is life, there is hope." But that view is shared by fewer people these days. With advances in medical technology, people in a comatose state often can be sustained by life support systems almost indefinitely. Furthermore, much more reliable tests now exist to determine the extent of brain damage and the likelihood—or non-likelihood—of any recovery. In addition to the question of individual rights, a societal issue looms: How much public money should be spent to keep people alive who have no prospect of recovering?

In the more publicized cases, the family typically wants to terminate life sustaining procedures. Often times testimony is given to the effect that the individual said this while in good health. But nothing is done.

Whether or not life sustaining procedures can be terminated depends heavily on the existence of clear and convincing evidence that the patient would have wanted life support systems to be withdrawn. A mere statement of speculation about a hypothetical situation is inadequate proof of one's real wishes involving life and death. If your views are to be taken seriously, put them in writing.

Most states have adopted laws on the subject, with such titles as Living Will Act, Natural Death Act, Death With Dignity Act, and Right To Die Act. Despite variations, these laws make it clear that the individual has some rights to control his or her own destiny and speak to the quality of life—and in the absence of that quality—a right to die. Through a Living Will an individual can direct the termination of life support systems such as respirators. Whether or not an individual can authorize in advance the removal of feeding and water tubes varies from state to state. Some states, yes; other states, no.

Whereas a regular will conveys one's wishes after death, a Living Will reflects one's wishes while still alive but unable to communicate. A Living Will can obviate what for some individual and their families a living death. Without a Living Will the courts and doctors are unable or unwilling to act. To act may result in civil or criminal charges. But with a Living Will, the family and the medical profession—and the courts—may no longer have discretion. The individual has stated his or her wishes and those wishes should be followed. Some state laws even provide penalties for failure to observe the terms of a Living Will.

It's not for everybody. On a subject as complex as deciding between life and death, individual views will vary. Religious beliefs, ethics, expectations of future advances in medical technology are all factors. Some individuals may opt for just the opposite of a Living Will: a document that states they do not want their lives ended by withdrawal of treatment no matter how long they have been or may continue in a vegetative state.

A Living Will is not just for the elderly. Young people, but over the age of majority, should give serious consideration to executing a Living Will. They can be victims of accidents that can leave them brain-damaged and comatose for years.

Making a decision on life and death cannot be taken lightly. But once the decision is made, you want it to be observed. Accordingly, it is important to:

- Discuss your decision with your family and close friends, as well as your doctor, lawyer and religious leader.

- Have the Living Will witnessed by two people; three is even better. But make sure the witnesses don't fall in the excluded categories.

- Have it notarized.

- Give copies to appropriate members of the family and friends, and to your doctor and lawyer.

- If you move to another state, re-execute a Living Will in that state.

- If you change your mind, revoke or change your Living Will. Do it in writing.

- Observe state law. Laws vary and are undergoing periodic change.

Foresters delete some Almond buys, Ok others

Rejecting a bid for a "greenbelt" idea, the Lake County Forest Preserve is going ahead with plans to de-designate 62 acres of the Almond Rd. Preserve.

Arbor Vista residents Gail Alter and Sue Simpson appeared before the Forest Preserve Board, asking them to create the greenbelt for three parcels off Rte. 120.

"This is an ecologically sensitive area. Warren Twp., Libertyville Twp. and the entire area will reap benefits from this undertaking," Forest Preserve Board member Suzi Schmidt of Dist. 4 said.

"I think we're doing a disservice to the Forest Preserve and residents of the area. We should make this a national model for a creative and sensitive highway," board member Carol Calebresa of Dist. 5 said.

Alter pointed out two years ago the Arbor Vista homeowners group gave the board its full support in designating the land. "We have no problems with Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) having the right-of-way being excluded. But just because the land was not purchased before you took office is no reason not to buy it. We feel this is wrong and unethical," Alter said. She added the end result may be another vacant strip mall.

"It does not make sense to have 62 acres sticking out like a sore thumb. We're basically insulating Arbor Vista. They've gotten their money's worth for the $10,000 they donated. They're surrounded by forest preserve or open space," Bob Depke of Dist. 5 said.

The majority of board members did not agree with the Arbor Vista residents, voting 16-6 to de-designate. Voting not to de-designate were Calebresa, Audrey Nixon and Debra Halas of Dist. 2, Larry Leafblad of Dist. 4, Schmidt, and Andrea Moore of Dist. 5.

The board authorized deletion of four other parcels totalling 20 acres, one for five acres and one more for 9.2 acres.

A purchase of a parcel of 8.25 acres at Almond Rd. won by a 17-2 vote and another purchase of 25 acres won by a 19-1 vote.

There, she won four matches to advance to the semifinals, where she lost to Helena Sukova, who was ranked 14th in the world at the time. In the quarterfinals, Harvey-Wild carved out a 6-1, 6-4 win over No. 17 Judith Wiesner.

As in anything else, you're only as good as your last match, and world tennis rankings change on a weekly basis. Harvey-Wild's highest ranking so far has been at No. 62.

Harvey-Wild recently signed with Chicago-based sports agent Steve Zucker, whose many clients include Jim McMahon and Deion Sanders. She's Zucker's first tennis player, but the agency was well-equipped.

Paul Brandt, a former USC tennis ace and NCAA tourney finalist now working for Zucker, is looking after Harvey-Wild's interests.

"We were happy getting her," Brandt said. "Linda's got a great future. And, she's easy to deal with."

While many pros try to rely on a baseline game (hanging back and hoping the opponent makes a mistake), the great ones go on the offensive. That's where Harvey-Wild is looking to improve.

"I need to work on my serving and volleys," Harvey-Wild offered. "I can come to the net, but I don't feel comfortable. I'm getting better, though."

Brandt said Harvey-Wild has all the tools.

"She hits really big, aggressive forehands and backhands," Brandt said. "She's working on her all-court game. She prefers the baseline right now, but you can only get so far that way."

"The main thing for her is to stay focused," Brandt continued. "A lot of girls get burnt out. She's got to give it some time. She really hasn't had a whole lot of experience on the pro tour yet."

Harvey-Wild concurred with Brandt's assessment.

"I've got to focus on not beating myself on the court," she said. "I'll have my ups and downs, but I've got to keep going up."

"A lot of people think I have real potential," Harvey-Wild added. "They think I could be in the top 20 or 30."

Brandt interjected: "The top 10."

- ANNOUNCING -

Chevrolet, in conjunction with GMAC and Shepard Chevrolet, is pleased to announce an exclusive program available to all active duty military or spouses as well as all active reservist personnel or spouses.

Effective March 21, 1991 thru January 5, 1992, retail purchases or retail leases of eligible military personnel and financed thru GMAC will be eligible to receive downpayment assistance of $300 to $800. Under this special program, a base incentive of $300 is applicable to all qualified armed serve and reserved personnel (including spouses). Chevrolet will then match, dollar for dollar, any customer downpayment up to $500 for total Chevrolet assistance of up to $800.

This incentive is compatible with all other Chevrolet consumer and dealer incentives in effect at time of delivery except the "College Graduate Finance Plan" and "First Time Buyer" downpayment assistance program.

The eligible models are all new and unused 1990/91/92 Chevrolet and Geo passenger cars and light-duty trucks.

Armed services identification must be provided (armed serves card and social security card).
